Why Brighton Properties Attract Pests

Brighton has a mix of period homes, modern townhouses and busy cafes close to the bay. That mix creates plenty of hiding spots. Older homes often have small gaps around pipes and floorboards. Sea breezes bring moisture, and leafy gardens give ants, spiders and rodents somewhere to settle in.

A cafe near Bay Street might battle cockroaches behind the fridge. A family home near Brighton Beach might find ants marching along the kitchen bench every summer. Different properties need different plans, and that is where pest control Brighton experts make a real difference.

Our technicians regularly handle:

Cockroach control

Targeted gel baiting for German and American cockroaches, focused on kitchens, drains and wall cavities where they breed.

Termite treatment

Thorough inspections, chemical barriers and baiting systems to catch termite activity early and stop damage in its tracks.

Rodent control

A mix of baiting, trapping and sealing entry points to remove rats and mice for good — not just for a few weeks.

Coverage for redbacks, huntsman and white-tail spiders around eaves, decks, sheds and other entry points.

Bed bug treatment

Combined heat and chemical treatment for mattresses, furniture and wall voids, plus a follow-up visit to confirm they're gone.

Nest treatment and ongoing barrier protection against black ants, coastal ants and sugar ants common around Brighton homes.

Commercial pest control

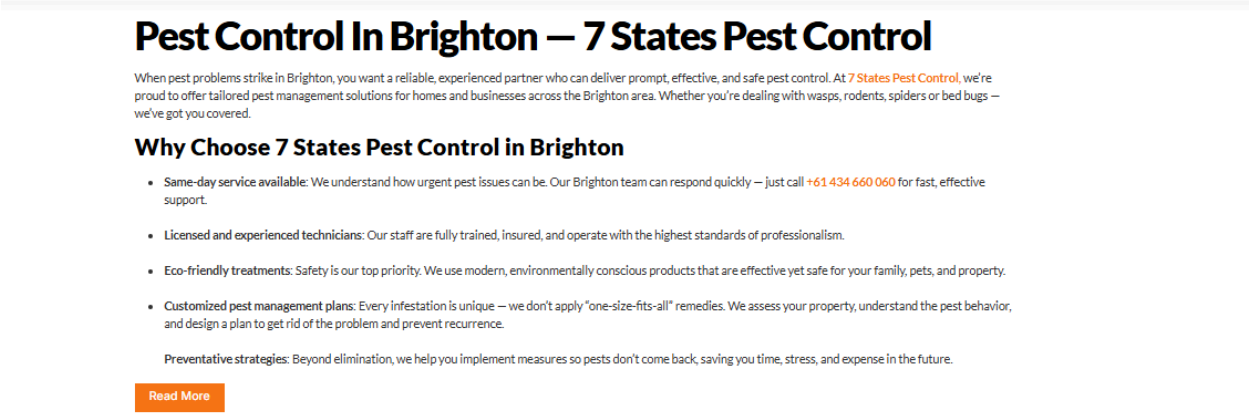

Scheduled treatments and compliance paperwork for cafes, offices, retail spaces and warehouses.

Why That Supermarket Spray Keeps Letting You Down

Store-bought sprays kill what they touch, and that is about it. Picture a family spraying the kitchen every weekend. The cockroaches they see vanish for a few days, but the nest behind the dishwasher stays untouched, and soon they are back.

A professional pest control Brighton service goes after the source. We find where pests enter, feed and breed, then treat those areas with methods you cannot buy off the shelf.

What Actually Happens When We Show Up

We Look Where Pests Hide

We check inside and outside your property, including roof spaces, subfloors, gutters and garden edges, to identify the pest and how far it has spread.

The Treatment Fits the Problem

Whether it needs gel baiting, barrier spraying or rodent control, we choose the right method. Products are suitable for homes with kids and pets when used as directed.

We Help Keep Them Gone

Sealing small gaps, fixing leaking taps and clearing leaf litter make a real difference. We will show you what to do.

From Bay Street Cafes to Beachside Apartments

Brighton has period homes with timber floors, modern apartments and busy cafes. Each faces different risks. A cafe needs discreet, food-safe treatment that keeps the kitchen running, while a renovated house may need a termite check before the next big project. Our pest control Brighton team adjusts the plan to suit the property.
